

Japan's Largest Producers of Pine Bonsai

Kinashi and Kokubunji in Takamatsu

The towns of Kinashi and Kokubunji in Takamatsu, Kagawa are the largest producers of pine bonsai in Japan, accounting for 80% of the domestic market. About 60 growers cultivate pine bonsai, including Kuromatsu (Japanese Black Pine), Goyomatsu (Japanese White Pine), and Nishikimatsu (Japanese Brocade Pine) at the base of the Goshikidai Plateau and the surrounding areas. The landscape of pine seedling fields is truly a unique sight to see in the area.

Takamatsu-Bonsai-no-Sato opened in 2020 to promote Japan's top bonsai-producing area both at home and abroad. We welcome visitors from around the world and serve as a hub for bonsai fans by offering events, workshops, classes, and bonsai tours. Our large shelves display approximately 10,000 quality Shohaku and Zoki pots, and you can enjoy bonsai shopping at a reasonable price in a friendly atmosphere. Additionally, there are professional bonsai artists on site to help and share their expertise.
